Happy Spring Everyone!

Along with the weather warming up, the storm season comes... On that note, you may have noticed a new flashlight hanging in your bathrooms.

Please leave them on the hook so that in case of inclement weather where we would have to shelter in place and lose electricity, you have a light source.

We only ask that once a month you check the batteries on it and upon moving out please leave it there for the next resident.

But I also say this: that light is an invitation to happiness, and that happiness, when it's done right, is a kind of holiness, palpable and redemptive.

-Mary Oliver

What was the happiest day of your life? What made it a happy day? Were you alone, or were others there? According to Psychology Today, reminiscing with others can make you happier in the moment. Studies show that thinking about happy memories can interrupt negative thoughts and boost our sense of satisfaction. Making time to remember and share stories about our happiest days can have a significant impact on our overall happiness today and can even help us to bounce back when we face inevitable challenges.

Reminiscing is good for the spirit and choosing to share and receive stories of happiness together is one way of experiencing holiness and healing.

This month, try making time each day to share a happy story with someone, and see what happens!

In the late 1870's, Captain Woodrow F. Call & Captain Augustus McCrae run the Hat Creek Cattle Company in a small Texas border town. Working with them are Joshua Deets, an excellent tracker & scout; Pea Eye Parker, a loyal & reliable but unintelligent former TX Ranger; Bolivar, an ex Mexican bandit who works as their cook; and Newt Dobbs, a 17-year old boy whose mother Maggie was a prostitute and who's father is widely thought by the outfit to be Call, though the Captain has never acknowledged this.

THIS MINI-SERIES, BASED ON A LARRY MCMURTRY NOVEL, CENTERS ON THE RELATIONSHIPS BETWEEN SEVERAL RETIRED TEXAS RANGERS AND THEIR ADVENTURES DRIVING A CATTLE HERD FROM TEXAS TO MONTANA. IT COVERS SUCH THEMES AS OLD AGE, DEATH, UNREQUITED LOVE, AND FRIENDSHIP.
